

yards this side. The bridge was burned clean through, and under us was Rock Gorge, some seventy feet or more. Then I knew why Margaret had come out, and what she'd meant when she put out her arms like that.

"Well, sir, Vice President James was naturally pleased, but what I wanted to say was about Minnie. It seemed that when she stood there smiling to me she said she'd felt just as though Margaret wasn't very far away from her. And when I told her she wasn't surprised, somehow. I guess that's the way it is. We know the truth, if we close our chattering minds and open our hearts. But there's the new bridge of steelwork. Ain't she a beauty?"

(Copyright by W. G. Chapman.)

LABOR MAN IN HIGH PLACE ON FEDERAL COMMISSION

*Basil
M. Manly.*

Basil M. Manly, who succeeds Prof. Charles McCarty as chief of field work on the federal commission of industrial relations.

A Houston, Texas, undertaker has purchased a pulmotor to use in bringing the dead to life.

LONDON SOCIETY GIRL GUEST IN CAPITAL

MISS D. PLOWDEN

Miss D. Plowden of London, who is being entertained in Washington by Mme. Colejewski, wife of the naval attache of the Russian embassy.

UPLIFT STUFF

Don't deal in woe or tearfulness,
Most folks have a supply
Of wares like these, and cheerfulness
Is what they want to buy.
So deal in joy and truthfulness,
Put on a smiling phiz,
And you'll preserve your youthfulness
And do a lot of biz.

Quartermaster Sergeant Kerr of the Thirty-second battery, royal field artillery, who was mentioned in a recent dispatch from Sir John French, had a unique experience in the South African war. He was officially reported killed and insurance money was paid over. When he reached home at Littlehampton he found a tablet erected to his memory.